No student ought to enter the Freshman Class until he is at least fourteen years old.

Public Exercises—Terms and Vacations.

The College Year is divided into two Terms or Sessions. The annual commencement is on the last Wednesday of July, and the first term of the next College year begins six weeks after, and continues twenty weeks. A vacation of six weeks follows, after which the second term begins, and continues until the last Wednesday of July, the day of the annual commencement. Students are expected to be present punctually at the commencement of the term. New students pay a matriculation fee of three dollars.

Supervision and Moral Influences.

The Faculty endeavor, in their system of government, to exercise a parental influence, and rely much upon appeals to the moral sense. All the students are required to attend Bible Class on the Sabbath, and also the Morning Service in the Presbyterian Church, with the members of the Faculty, except in cases where they are permitted by the Faculty to attend another church, on the written request of their parent or guardian.

One Professor and the Tutors reside in the College building with the students.

A record is kept of the punctuality, diligence, scholarship, and general behavior of each student; a report of which is sent to the parent or guardian at the close of each session.

Location.

The College is situated in the borough of Easton, fifty-five miles, nearly due north, from Philadelphia, with which city there is daily communication (Sundays excepted) by stages direct by Doylestown, and also by rail-road to Lambertsville, and stage from that place. This road will, within a few months, be finished to Easton, when the time to Philadelphia will be four hours. Fare in all varies from $1 50 to $2.

We are seventy-two miles from New-York city, with which we have daily connection by the N. J. Central Rail-road, three times a day, (Sundays excepted.) Fare $1 75.⁷

The College Charges are as follows:

Matriculation or Admission Fee.....	$3 00
Tuition per Session, with use of Library and Apparatus..	20 00
Fuel per Session.....	3 00
Room Rent, including stove (an average) per Session...	4 00
Boarding per week in the Refectory.....	2 00*
Incidentals, Servants' Wages, making Fires, &c., per } Session.....	1 50

Students are permitted to select their place of boarding either at the Refectory, in private houses, or in clubs. The price of Board in clubs does not exceed $1 per week. No student is permitted to board at a public hotel; and in all cases the place of boarding must be approved by the Faculty.

*The Steward attempted to give Board for $1 75 per week, but he finds he cannot give satisfactory fare for less than $2.

The Fuel, Room Rent and Incidentals must be paid each Session in advance. The Matriculation or Admission Fee, thirty days after entering College. The Tuition and Boarding (when in the Refectory) are to be paid each half Session, in advance. Students obtain washing at about one dollar per month. Students will require some money for Books and Stationery, and little Incidentals, but it is strongly recommended to Parents to furnish them with little beyond what will meet their actual wants; and in most cases it will be found best for Parents to entrust the funds for their sons to the care of some officer of College, who will furnish them with funds for necessary purposes, as they may require.*

The following is the plan for the endowment of the College, which will soon be fully secured, viz:

1. One Hundred Dollars paid shall entitle the subscriber to the tuition of all his sons, without further charge, in the College proper;* or, instead of his own sons, those of any family he may designate; and for every additional hundred dollars which the same individual may pay, he shall have the privilege of designating the sons of any family he may think proper to receive tuition in the College, as above.

2. Five Hundred Dollars, paid by an individual, an association of individuals, or by a congregation, shall entitle the individual, association or session of the church or congregation to a perpetual scholarship, to which the party may appoint any individual they may select; and the scholarship may be devised by will as any other property. The incumbents on any of the scholarships to be subject, of course, to all the rules and regulations of the College, as well as the discipline.

3. No subscription shall be binding until the sum of ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS has been actually subscribed, at which time all subscriptions shall be due and payable, and shall draw interest until collected. Upon the payment of the subscriptions, scrip will be issued, which may be transferrable as other property, as above specified. The funds invested, to be secured by bond and mortgage on unincumbered real estate, or other good and sufficient security.

4. The Trustees bind themselves and their successors, that the funds thus contributed shall never be used for purposes inconsistent with the views of Christian truth as now entertained by the Synod of Philadelphia, in connection with the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States.

Donations of any sums will be thankfully received.

The College property consists mainly in lands and large and well-arranged buildings, and the location of the Institution is such that its entire success can interfere with no existing College.

The Synod of Philadelphia has the sole right to nominate all the Trustees and Members of the Faculty, and to appoint a Board of Visitors from their own number to attend all the examinations, and to that body the Trustees are bound to report annually the condition of the College. Subscribers and donors therefore have a guarantee that the Institution will always be wisely governed, and supplied with able and faithful instructors and officers, and that as long as that venerable Synod remains orthodox, no religious instruction will be given in the College inconsistent with the standards of the Presbyterian Church.

During the recent sessions of the Synod in Baltimore, that body felt that it had not the control of the College as fully as it was desirable. It therefore recommended the subscribers to the endowment fund, to suspend the payment of their subscriptions until the Board should be brought fully under the control of the Synod, by the resignation of those Trustees who had not been nominated by the Synod, and appointment of others in their place, who had been so nominated. Accordingly, at a meeting of the Board, held immediately after the rising of the Synod, fourteen members resigned, and their places were filled by nominations of the Synod. Thus an entire change was effected in the Board, and in all the officers of it, by which the Synod has the entire control of the Institution. And it therefore now enjoys the warm recommendation of that venerable body, as expressed in the following resolution adopted at its last meeting, viz:

“Resolved, That the Synod again express their strong and undiminished confidence in the ability and fidelity of the acting Faculty of the College; and in case they should secure the necessary control of the Institution, the Synod would be highly gratified with the completion of its endowment, and would earnestly recommend the College to the continued patronage of our people.”

Students who may become connected with the Institution while the endowment is progressing, will all pay the regular College fees. But if their parents or guardians subscribe a scholarship, and if the endowment is secured while they are connected with the College, as soon as their payments for tuition, after the subscription has been made, amount to $100, they shall be exempt from further payment, and be entitled to the privileges of a scholarship. But should the endowment fail, they will pay the balance of the regular tuition fees.

Literary Societies.

There are two Literary Societies in the College—The Washington and The Franklin—which have spacious and elegantly furnished halls in the fourth story of the main College building. Each society has also an extensive and valuable library.

The Brainard Evangelical Society has also a hall appropriated to its papers and libraries. This Society holds its anniversary, and has a public address at the close of the winter session.

On the day preceding the commencement an oration will be delivered before the Literary Societies by a member of one of them.

On the evening preceding commencement, the Junior Exhibition will take place.

Committee of Examination.

The Rev. J. D. Dudley, the Rev. P. J. Timlow, and the Rev. S. A. Gayley, were appointed by the Synod of Philadelphia, a Committee to attend the semi-annual examination of the students at the close of the winter term in January, 1853.

The Rev. Lyman Coleman, D. D., the Rev. Robert P. Dubois, and Paul T. Jones, Esq., were also appointed to attend the examination at the close of the year, immediately preceding commencement in July, 1853.

Calendar.

Commencement—Last Wednesday in July.

The Academical year is divided into two terms of twenty weeks each.

The First Term begins six weeks from commencement, and ends this year, (1852-3,) January 26th.

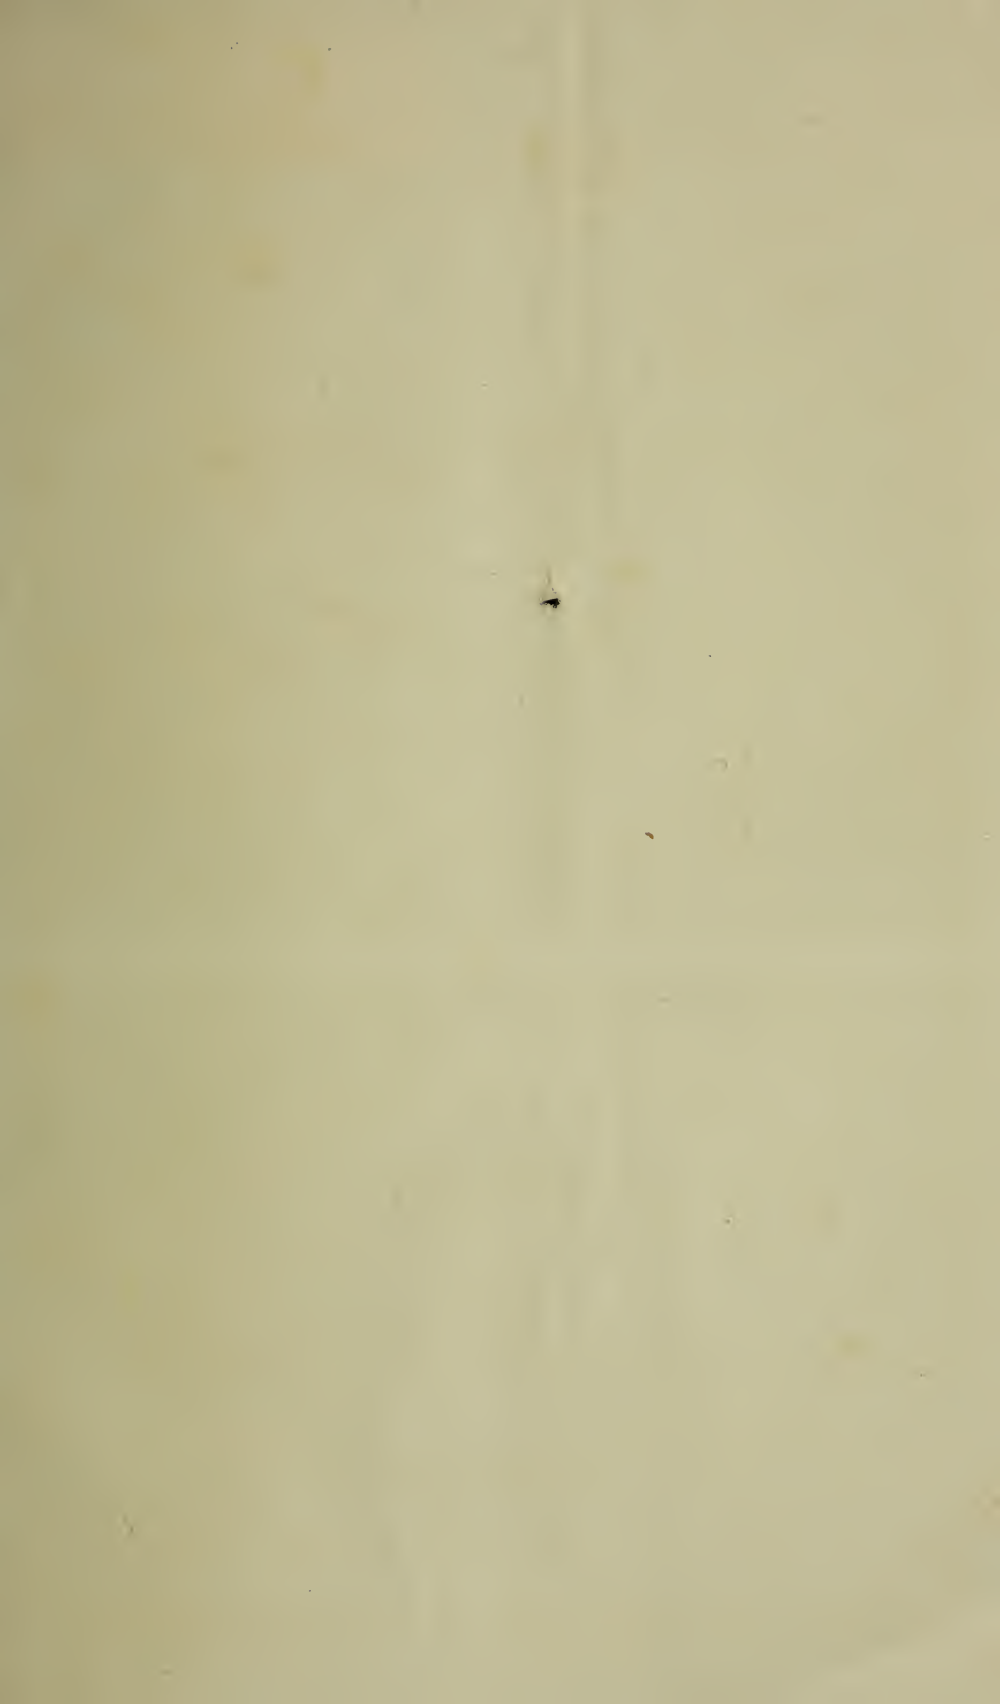

The Second Term begins March 10th, 1853, and ends on the day of commencement.

CHAPTER IV

THE first of the four great principles of the Christian religion, which are the foundation of all its doctrines and precepts, is the doctrine of the Trinity. This doctrine is the basis of all Christian worship and prayer, and is the foundation of all Christian morality. It is the doctrine that God is one, but that there are three persons in the Godhead, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit, who are co-equal and co-eternal with each other, and who are united in one substance. This doctrine is the basis of all Christian worship and prayer, and is the foundation of all Christian morality.

CHAPTER V

THE second of the four great principles of the Christian religion, which are the foundation of all its doctrines and precepts, is the doctrine of the Incarnation. This doctrine is the basis of all Christian worship and prayer, and is the foundation of all Christian morality. It is the doctrine that the Son of God, who is co-equal and co-eternal with the Father, took upon himself the form of flesh, and was born of a woman, and lived and died for the redemption of the world. This doctrine is the basis of all Christian worship and prayer, and is the foundation of all Christian morality.
